WHO’S LYING?

People very often lie. Studies show that people lie once every ten minutes when they talk. But how do we know when someone is lying to us?

First of all, the eyes say a lot. People who are lying change the focus of their eyes quickly. They look straight into our eyes one moment, but the next moment they look somewhere else. They open and close their eyes more often, too. They blink their eyes up to eight times more in a minute. They may also move or turn their head, touch their face, or bite their lips. What’s more, they might sound different. For example, they may suddenly raise their voice or repeat words.

According to the studies, people aren’t very good at spotting lies. At best, we can only tell half of the lies we hear every day.

So, learn the signs and try to use them to spot any lies. They can keep us from being fooled.

36. What is the reading mainly about?
 (A) How well we can spot a lie.
 (B) How often people tell a lie.
 (C) How people act when they lie.

(D) How to tell if people are lying.

37. What do people do when they blink their eyes?
 (A) They open and close their eyes.
 (B) They look up or down at something.
 (C) They touch the area around the eyes.
 (D) They stop looking at things in front of them.
 38. According to the reading, what ISN’T true about lying?
 (A) When people lie, they may talk louder.
 (B) People may touch their face when lying.
 (C) We can easily tell whether someone is lying.
 (D) People who lie often change what they’re looking at.
 39. What do they mean?
 (A) Lies we can easily tell.
 (B) Signs that show people are lying.
 (C) People who are good at spotting lies.
 (D) Studies on types of lies people often tell.

Read the homepage of the Howler Monkey Center and answer the following questions.

<http://www.howlermonkeycenter.com>

Summer vacation is around the corner.

Are you tired of staying home all day long?

Do you want to do something important for nature?

The members of the center come from all over the world to take care of howler monkeys here in South America. The reason for this is that it’s the place where howler monkeys used to live. However, the development of the cities has caused the monkeys to lose their natural homes. This is why the number of howler monkeys is much lower than it was before. In fact, howler monkeys are in danger of becoming extinct. Please join us to help the poor howler monkeys.

◆ What kind of person are we looking for?

First, you have to love animals. Second, you have to be in good shape because we do a lot of walking and have to carry heavy buckets of food. You also have to be a good team worker because nobody works alone here. We work in groups. You will have to share a bedroom with two or three other people. And last but not least, you will need to speak English.

◆ What will you do every day?

◆ How will you get to the Howler Monkey Center?

◆ How long does the trip take?

◆ How much does the trip cost?

◆ How do you plan on joining us?
